

The Bug Wars

The aliens invaded without warning. Two races of them; implacable enemies for reasons incomprehensible to us. They lust to destroy each other, but their full power would destroy suns. So they came to Earth and enslaved the so-called 'primitive species' found here, the better to wage their genocidal wars by proxy.

This would be appalling, except that they only did it to beetles. It's amazing what kind of little armaments they can put on those suckers; and the wars are, honestly, riveting TV. Besides, the aliens are otherwise, you know, nice.

I wish I knew why they hate each other.
