

CSI: IASB

Everybody has a skill. Mine is being able to reconstruct a murder scene. As in, years after the fact.

This one was hard. I mean, I was in a diving suit and walking through what used to be cargo space on the Lusitania. While the bodies were long gone and the site washed out, murder always leaves tangible traces, and if you can see them -- ah! There they were. So I rewound and replayed the scene in my own head, over and over, until I knew how the girl was murdered.

And how to stop the murder from ever happening.
