

Species Adaptation

Look, humans are monkeys, see? And monkeys throw crap. All planets, the monkeys throw crap. So humans throw crap, hit things with sticks. Everything humans do in war is just all about bigger sticks, or stinkier crap.

Humans are best at it, too. Better than my people, that's for sure. A human can hit things with crap that somebody from my people maybe can't even see.

So we let humans do all the shooting stuff, yeah? Humans like it and I like it, too -- because then humans aren't shooting at me. Not that humans would do that, sure. But still.
