

Goes Right To Their Heads

Terran beer has an oversized reputation in the larger galaxy. It's true that the stuff is good for boosting other species' psionic abilities, but it shouldn't have that dramatic an effect. It's like a half-pint of the cheapest lager out there can make people demigods.

One of the adepts tried to explain it to me. Emphasis on try: she slurred something about 'self-reinforcing expectations' and 'transcendent taste esters,' then collapsed in a corner. Apparently the other characteristics of beer are still in effect, if you're not careful. Most psionic adepts aren't.

And that's why I need to see your ID.
