

Cold Irony

We have special body bags for the Greys. It's not because of the size; it's because their bodies degrade into toxic sludge when you add the iron fillings. It won't stay toxic for long, but it'll poison groundwater in the meantime. Thus, the body bags. Nell and I took turns on the backhoe, because moving around even little Grey corpses gets old fast when there's forty of them.

Afterward, as we were finishing up the paperwork (so much paperwork), Nell snorted. "I wonder if these had anything to do with those UFOs up north."

"Nah," I replied. "UFOs ain't real."
