

Let Us Know When You're Done

We had the unique luck of appearing on the Galactic stage exactly thirty one standard Terran days before -- well, we think it was a galaxy-wide slave revolt. We didn't have time to get details before space was suddenly full of screaming aliens.

It could have been worse. The revolution did have a very long enemies list, but humanity was nowhere on it. Still, tensions were high, so we were 'asked' to go back to Sol System until things had straightened themselves out. They were throwing planets around, so we agreed.

That was a century ago.

...We'll just keep waiting, thanks.
