

Crazy Money

“Magic’s just an energy source we hadn’t defined yet.”
That’s what the mathematicians told us. Maybe the source of that insight should have been our first warning.

I’m serious about the ‘maybe,’ by the way. I really don’t know how bad it’s getting. I mean, if you’re a mathematician, it’s pretty damned bad. You get into magic, you’re gonna be catatonic and dying from the brain lesions by twenty-five. No question.

But you’ll be really, really useful before then. Nobody’s forcing them to use magic! They get paid. Shoot, they make crazy money. And, well, most people aren’t mathematicians anyway...
