

A Stellar Aesthetic

The hot rodders saved us, during the Invasion. They had exactly the right skill set needed to take apart captured or wrecked Invader gear, pull out the stuff that worked, and reuse it on our own gear. Sure, they didn't know how half that stuff worked, but shoot: neither did the Invaders. Their engineers are literally one in a million; that's why their stuff was all plug-and-play.

So, after the Invasion was over, and we were setting some boundaries among the stars? All those hot rodders came right along for the ride.

And that's why my starship looks so cool.
